Daily overview

What happened, what matters today and what needs monitoring. Priority and confidence are set by rule from the event records, explained on the last page.

The junta's announcement, relayed by DVB Burmese and KIC, that it captured 11 resistance bases in Kyaikto and Shwegyin townships (Event 1), denied by the NUG (Event 16), points to a claimed junta push in southeastern Myanmar.

According to DVB Burmese and KIC, which relay the junta's announcement, the military captured 11 resistance bases in Kyaikto and Shwegyin townships between November 5 and 8; the NUG and KNU deny this, and KNLA Brigade 1 reportedly recovered seized weapons on November 10 (Event 1). The NUG denied junta claims that it captured the NUG's Special Regional Command and various camps along the Mon, Karen, and Bago borders, stating the command is mobile (Event 16). Meanwhile, Thailand's Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister is due to visit Nay Pyi Taw on November 12 to discuss border security and trade with junta leaders (Event 7), the junta admitted a 30 percent power shortfall extending blackouts through 2027 (Event 10), and the military says it appointed Maj Gen Aung Ko Thwin to lead the North East Command in late October (Event 37).

P2 HIGH EVENT 1 · ARMED CONFLICT

Junta says it captured 11 resistance bases in Kyaikto and Shwegyin; NUG and KNU deny; KNLA says it recovered weapons

WHAT HAPPENED According to DVB Burmese and KIC, the junta announced that between November 5 and 8 its offensive in Kyaikto and Shwegyin townships captured 11 bases, including the NUG Special Regional Command, PDF camps, and KNLA Battalion 3 headquarters. The NUG and KNU deny this. KIC reports that on November 10 KNLA Brigade 1 recovered most of the 10 or more weapons the military had seized near Kyaukphyar village group, plus one vehicle.

WHERE AND WHEN Shwegyin · 10 Nov

WHY IT MATTERS If the junta's claim is accurate, it suggests the military can still mass forces against resistance camps, but the NUG and KNU denials and the reported KNLA counterattack mean control of the positions is unestablished (Event 1).

Intelligence assessment and watchlist

Implications, uncertainties and what to monitor in the next 24-72 hours.

Across multiple theaters, the junta is prioritizing military offensives, reportedly pushing into positions in Karen, Mon, Bago, Rakhine, and Magway, in part on claims the opposing side disputes (Event 1) (Event 16) (Event 36) (Event 40) while reportedly proposing a record 10.53 trillion kyat defense budget (Event 28), despite severe fuel shortages (Event 12) (Event 39), a reported Central Bank request for 50.564 billion kyats for banknote printing (Event 29), and national power blackouts extending through 2027 (Event 10). The military's claimed appointment of Maj Gen Aung Ko Thwin to the North East Command in Lashio (Event 37) reflects ongoing command adjustments as tensions reportedly rise between Min Aung Hlaing and China over reopening MNDAA- and TNLA-held routes along the Mandalay-Muse trade corridor (Event 23). Diplomatically, the junta is pursuing border security talks with Thailand (Event 7) while suggesting the German Chargé d'Affaires could leave Myanmar (Event 9) amid advocacy targeting the ASEAN summit in the Philippines (Event 18) (Event 35) and the scheduled November 19 ICJ judgment in the genocide case (Event 25). Key operational uncertainties center on whether the military holds the bases claimed in southeastern Myanmar (Event 1) (Event 16) and whether conscript-backed offensives near Sittwe can secure supply routes without overextending forces (Event 36).

Key information gaps

- While two outlets report fighting and base seizures in Kyaikto and Shwegyin between November 5 and 10 (Event 1), control of key command infrastructure is disputed, as the military reportedly claims to have captured the NUG Special Regional Command while the NUG claims the command is mobile and uncaptured (Event 1) (Event 16).
- Single-source reports of fatal military airstrikes near IDP camps in Pauktaw, Ponnagyun, and Kyaukphyu do not state exact strike dates for Ponnagyun and Kyaukphyu or provide independent verification of the reported casualties (Event 3) (Event 4).
- Casualty figures from the Burma Women's Union, which claimed that 49 women were killed and 45 injured by junta attacks in October and stated that Rakhine State and Sagaing Region recorded the highest casualties, with 47 of the deaths caused by airstrikes, rely on the organization's reporting and lack independent verification (Event 6).
- Only a military account carried by a single outlet reports the late-October replacement of Maj Gen Aye Min Oo with Maj Gen Aung Ko Thwin at the North East Command, leaving the operational or disciplinary reasons for the change unestablished (Event 37).

Watchlist

1	Whether resistance counterattacks retake further ground along the Mon, Karen, and Bago borders, where the NUG claims it is currently fighting back against the advancing military forces (Event 1) (Event 16).
2	Battlefield developments around Kun Taung village, Wa Bo Island, and Shwe Min Gan Naval Base near Sittwe and Ponnagyun following reports of a large-scale military offensive against the Arakan Army (AA), alongside further fuel price spikes in blockaded Sittwe (Event 12) (Event 36).
3	Any border security measures or trade facilitation steps on the Mae Sot-Myawaddy route following the planned November 12 Nay Pyi Taw visit by Thailand's Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister to meet junta leaders (Event 7).
4	Humanitarian conditions and further displacement in Magway's Tilin, Pauk, and Myaing townships as a reported military column of approximately 500 troops advances toward Tilin town amid heavy rainfall (Event 5) (Event 32).
5	ASEAN leaders' posture toward junta representation and elections at the summit in the Philippines following calls from Human Rights Watch, APHR, and SAC-M to maintain exclusions (Event 18) (Event 35).

Scheduled dates
